

Table 1. What can I do for myself?

Create control for yourself; you can control your reaction.

Recall what response mechanisms you have used in the past.

Remember that you are not alone; do not suffer in silence.

Consider reaching out to trusted colleagues or mentors.

Are you able to adjust your environment to include support mechanisms?

Consider reassessing your goals for you, your work, your career.